Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which gripped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive."

ADVANCE TEN MILLION FOR COTTON MARKETING.

Washington, July 12.—South Carolina gets the backing of the War Finance Corporation for $10,000,000 for financing the orderly marketing of cotton.

This came today in the announcement of the War Finance Corporation that it had tentatively approved the application of the South Carolina Cotton Growers' Association for the advance of $10,000,000 to be used in aid of the orderly marketing of cotton.

A similar association in North Carolina gets approval for an advance of another $10,000,000 while to associations of the same kind there goes $1,000,000 for Arkansas and $3,000,000 for Alabama.

The corporation expects that only a portion of the amounts approved will be advanced by it; that the banks in the interested districts will do the major part of the required financing for these associations.

NOTICE OF ENROLLMENT.

Let each one who is qualified to vote be sure that he gets his name on his club roll, and it would be best to enter same as soon as you well can, as the books will close on Tuesday, July 25th, and as you will see this is less than two weeks, so you haven't much time to procrastinate and then get your name on the roll book and unless you get your name on you will not be allowed to vote. A few do wait until the last and then they have to get an order from some circuit judge in order to get their names enrolled, and the judge may not grant this unless you have some legal excuse for not getting it on while the books are open for you. So remember the date, Tuesday, July 25, and get the name on the book before that day. All books must be sent in to W. E. Findley, chairman, by Friday, July 28th, so that he can have a copy of the books made to file with the clerk of court for public inspection at all times. If anyone has any question as to where he shall enroll or does not know where to find his book, let W. E. Findley, Pickens, S. C., know and he shall be glad to give you such information.

Also all who expect to be candidates and have not filed your pledges, look after this before it is too late, for if you should neglect to file your pledge that will knock you out and it might be that the county would lose its best officer on account of the candidate being negligent in filing his pledges.

W. E. Findley, Chairman.

CAMP-MERK.

A wedding that came as quite a surprise to the many friends of the bride and groom, and one of unusual interest in this and other states, because of the popularity and prominence of the contracting parties, was that of Miss Frances Camp and Mr. Charles Merk on Wednesday evening, July 12, at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride. The attractive home was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The wedding was a quiet affair, but beautiful in its simplicity and solemnity, the impressive ring ceremony being performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. J. Paul Patton.

The bride was beautiful in a handsome dress of brown silk lace over canton crepe with accessories to match, featuring the new fall modes, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. After the ceremony an informal reception was held during which an ice course was served. Immediately after this the bride and groom left for a short motor trip to the mountains before going to their new home in Jefferson, Ga.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. J. L. Camp of Easley and one of the most popular members of the younger set. She attended school at Blackstone, Va., and Anderson College, and taught in the graded school here the past session. The groom, who is a prominent young business man of Jefferson, Ga., is a young man of sterling character, and holds a responsible position with the Standard Oil Co. During his visits here he has made many friends.

BARKERS CREEK.

Dr. Z. T. Cody in The Baptist Courier.

On Sunday, July 2, the new house of worship of the Barkers Creek church, Saluda Association, was dedicated. It was one of those occasions that will abide in the memory of all who were there. The writer had the pleasure of being with Pastor Hiott and his people for the day and it was more than a pleasure. This is the fourth house of worship built by the Barkers Creek church, which was organized in 1821, and it is by far the most beautiful of the four. In its construction the former, the third, house of worship was almost completely used for the Sunday school department, after being remodeled throughout. It also forms an addition to the auditorium. The new auditorium is built in front of its predecessor and makes a room complete within itself. The house cost $15,000. Under the guidance of Hon. T. L. Clinkscales, Jr., it was dedicated without a dollar of debt. It is a beautiful building, and bids fair to serve every purpose of the community, in an adequate way, for a quarter of a century or more.

The history of the church was read by Pastor D. W. Hiott, but was written by another. It was interesting to note that Brother Hiott is now pastor here for the fourth time. The beginning of his pastorate was some thirty-five years ago and during first or second pastorate the church erected its third house of worship; and also Brother T. L. Clinkscales, Jr., was chairman of the building committee for it; as for its successor, the new building. Pastor Hiott is greatly revered and beloved by his people and his present pastorate is the most successful of the four.

In the afternoon there were addresses and talks by Rev. W. W. Leathers, a former pastor of the church, Rev. N. G. Wright, who was converted and baptized into the membership of this church, Mr. E. P. Vandiver, the moderator of the Saluda Association, who in his talk suggested that it would be a beautiful thing for Barker's Creek to invite the association to meet with it in 1923; and Dr. Jno. E. White who delivered an address of great power on the subject, "The House Not Made With Hands at Barker's Creek." We have seldom heard this good preacher deliver a greater message, and the folk hung on it from the first word to the last with thoughtful hearts. The women of the church gave us a delightful dinner, or rather delightful dinners for these great tables, covered with the best that the culinary art can supply, were here and there all over the ground about the church. A great concourse of people were present, not only from the community, but from a half dozen or more churches in the association. We hope to be at Barkers Creek July-August, 1923, at the "greatest meeting of the Saluda Association."

The Progress is indebted to Sloan Childress, of the Cross Roads section, for a fine basket of choice peaches. Mr. Childress has one of the best orchards in the county and always remembers us with the best he has.
